

Milford Lodge presents...

Established in 2009 in Aberdeen, Scotland, by senior child-care professionals and founders, DANIEL and TERRI HARRISON. Nature Nurture's mission has always been to improve the life chances of disadvantaged and vulnerable children and young people who are experiencing challenges at home, in school and within the community.

The Nature Nurture project aims to build the child's resilience, providing an intervention that is sustainable and that combats the effects of trauma, neglect and anxiety. Our aim is to help vulnerable children develop the fortitude they need to face and overcome the hardships of their lives and to give them the personal strength and motivation to make healthy lifestyle choices when they are older. By giving vulnerable children a programme of outdoor experiences in natural environments we have found that the seeds of resilience are sown and grow quickly and strongly. Through training and ongoing support in the approach, partner organisations have shown that they can make the development sustainable and hopefully help to break the cycles of vulnerability that have existed in families for generation after generation
